Martinsville Road Improvement Wins Commission's O. K.

Ten-Mile Stretch Will Be Given Hard Surface at a Cost of $200,000—Other Roads in This Vicinity Approved.

The State Highway commission has just announced its decision as to recommendations for road improvement throughout Virginia. The work in which Danville is particularly interested that is to say the Martinsville road is assured for the commission has passed favorably on the expenditure of $200,000 on the Martinsville road from Sandy Creek westward which work will be commenced this summer. This is included in "Route No. 12" which also provides for the expenditure of $75,000 on the road from Sandy Creek to the Martinsville road at Stuart road at a cost of $50,000. The road east and west from Stuart to be improved for $30,000 has been decided upon last year. The proposed improvement from Martinsville to Fieldale at a cost of $50,000 has also been approved on the understanding that $50,000 of the cost be provided by the county of Henry and it is understood there is sufficient support to this proposition to ensure the road being built. The Chatham to Altavista road at a cost of $50,000 has also been approved. Local interests will seek to expedite as much as possible the Martinsville road improvement. It will be some time before the contract can be let, however, as bids must be called for and a reasonable time must elapse before these are opened. It is a foregone conclusion that the entire 10-mile stretch cannot be completed this summer although as much of it will be done as possible.

Shattuck Pursues Clue Of Gem Thief Leading To Europe

NEW YORK, April 26.—Albert R. Shattuck, retired banker, who narrowly escaped death with his wife and servants at the hands of a daring gang of burglars in his home, No. 10 Washington Square, North, April 2, is on his way to Europe, in effort to help run down the lead. It became known last Saturday that Mr. Shattuck sailed Saturday. Mrs. Shattuck went with him, in the hope that a change will restore her health. She has been ill since the robbery, when she was nearly suffocated as a result of having been locked in a cellar vault by the robbers. Mr. Shattuck intends to spare no expense to trace Henry Bolat, his former butler, who is believed to have planned the robbery. He was in consultation with Police Commissioner Enright and Inspector Coughlin before he sailed, and it is said he intends to enlist the aid of Scotland Yard and continental detectives to run down clues that indicate Bolat has gone to Europe with stolen jewelry worth $70,000.

After many enjoyable selections by the choir Mat Nelson and Wirt Bolseaux will render "My Old Kentucky Home." So great a number were able to gain entrance to the entertainment on its first performance that it will be repeated tomorrow night.

New Political Crises Is Seen

Genoa Conference Rapidly Developing Into Conclave Affecting World's Future.

(By The Associated Press.)
GENOA, April 27.—The economic conference has developed plainly into one of the most important political world conclaves of history by reason of the momentous problems coming to the surface since its inauguration. A further note of gravity is added by the situation of Premier Lloyd George's address to American-British correspondents, uttering a warning that a new political crisis is facing Europe.

Leviathan Has Police and Also Fire Department

NEWPORT NEWS, April 26.—The giant liner Leviathan, now being overhauled at the Newport News Shipbuilding & Drydock Company's plant, needs no private watchman to look after the former pride of Germany. The Leviathan has a police and fire department of its own, and 60 members are on the payroll for such duties.

The fact that the Leviathan is out of commission has not interrupted the service of the policemen and firemen. They are still on duty day and night and will continue so until the ship is again in commission and ready for sea. Then the number may be increased.

The police and fire departments of the Leviathan are under Chief David G. Mallen, retired patrolman of New York City, and Chief Mallen is in New York today to meet his wife, expected from New York, and paid his respects to Chief Forland at headquarters. Chief Mallen said he has a force of 60 men, whose duty is to protect the ship from fire and theft and to enforce police and fire work. All are thoroughly familiar with fire drill and have a general knowledge of police work. Chief Mallen said the ship is under their surveillance at all times.

No Decision Yet Made Regarding Slot Machines

The question of whether the many slot machines being operated throughout the city are a violation of the law again arose in the mayor's court this morning but commonwealth's attorney, J. W. Carter, to whom a decision in the matter was left by the mayor, announced that he was not yet prepared to give a decision in the cases. Warrants have been issued against several merchants who have one of the machines in question installed in their places of business. One of the cases was set for today but at conclusion of the arguments and contentions of the attorney who represents the slot machine company and men who operate them, Mr. Carter said that he would reserve his decision in the matter until he could look further into the case.

Tickets For Festival Are Selling Fast

The sale of reserved seats for the Music Festival of May 3rd and 4th began this morning and a continuous stream of patrons quickly made inroads on the choice sections of the tabernacle. Those sections nearest the platform seemed to be the most popular, although many patrons selected seats further back, some even selecting seats half-way to the rear. It has been pointed out, however, that for musical performances, such as those given by the choir and orchestra and a large chorus are to be heard, almost any seat in the building will afford excellent opportunity for full appreciation of the music.

Federal Warrant Served By Police On Young Teacher

Capt. J. H. Bliss, Jr., professor of mathematics at Danville Military Institute was placed under arrest this morning in the office of the superintendent of the college by Police Detective J. C. Lewis and Officer Harris of a local warrant charging him with being a fugitive from justice from Washington where, it is alleged, he is charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses.

Many of the slot machines in question have been installed throughout the city. A nickel is inserted in the slot and a package of mints is received, also different numbers of checks good for a suit of clothes or any article in the store. The machines have been found to have a small window on the front which indicates the exact number of checks to be received even before the nickel is inserted. There is a small slot in the person who plays gets less than a 5-cent package of mints for his money.

This indicator makes the machine a legal device and is not regarded as a game of chance, according to the intentions of the merchants' counsel, as every person is able to see even before they place the money into the slot what he or she is going to get. On the other hand, the police claim that getting the checks, ranging from one to twenty, induces a person to play indefinitely when otherwise they would purchase a package of mints and leave the store.

POLL TAX PAYMENTS SLOW

Many Men and Women Have Neglected to Pay Last Year's Assessment

Figures compiled by City Treasurer George E. Goheen show that of the 4,187 white men assessable for poll taxes in this city, only 2,993 have complied with this requirement as a condition of suffrage. Of the 4,224 white women assessable, only 2,210 have yet paid the 1921 capitation tax. May 6th is the last day on which this tax payment may be made in time to enable one to qualify for suffrage.

The number of negro men assessable for the poll tax is only 1,472, of whom only 476 have paid last year's tax, while only 649 of the 1,664 negro women assessable have paid the tax for 1921.

In view of the short time left to pay this tax and qualify for the exercise of the franchise in the November election, the treasurer is anxious to direct attention to the early expiration of the time limit.

Come early and avoid a rush, is the treasurer's advice to the tardy citizens and citizenesses.

Will Be Unable To Visit Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 27.—Mrs. Nannie McAdoo King received a telegram from Lady Nancy Astor yesterday reading as follows: "I am particularly sorry cannot get to Greensboro. Fully looked up. Much love."

(Signed) "Nancy." Mrs. King, since childhood a personal friend of the Langhorne family, had invited Lady Astor to Greensboro for a visit. The telegram came from Baltimore, where Lady Astor has been attending the meeting of the National League of Women Voters.

In her childhood Mrs. King lived near the mother of Lady Astor, Mrs. C. D. Langhorne, who before her marriage was Miss Nannie Withers Keen. She was brought up at Cottage Hill, Va., and Mrs. King, Mrs. J. M. Morehead, and Mrs. B. A. Cunningham were all brought up at Bachelors Hall four miles distant. The two families were close friends and Mrs. King was a bridesmaid in the wedding of Miss Nannie Withers Keen and C. D. Langhorne, the parents of Lady Nancy Astor.

All three women have the same name. Nannie Withers, although Lady Astor has changed it to Nancy.

Mrs. Langhorne was well known by many of the older families in Greensboro. She attended both Guilford college and Greensboro college.

Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Druggists Guarantee First Pint Bottle of Allenbur's to Show the Way to Complete Recovery

Mr. James H. Allen, of Congress Avenue, Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, are dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

His freely gave his discovery, which he called ALLENBUR'S, to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers and instructed druggists to guarantee a full pint bottle as above stated. Lamar Is Silent On Fraud Charge Widow Asserts "Wolf" and Mrs. Estelle Allison Swindled Her Out of $6,300.

NEW YORK, April 26.—David Lamar, the "Wolf of Wall Street," and Mrs. Estelle Allison, an artist, of No. 125 East 54th street, will have a hearing in Yorkville court tomorrow on a summons charging that they obtained $6,300 from Mrs. Isaac B. Brennan, a widow, of No. 140 West 58th street, in a fraudulent stock deal.

Lamar, Mrs. Allison and Mrs. Brennan refused to answer questions yesterday. Joseph H. San, No. 160 Broadway, attorney for Mrs. Brennan, said she met Mrs. Allison about two years ago at a benefit for wounded soldiers. She told Mrs. Brennan of making money speculating, the lawyer said, and mentioned the name of a "Mr. David," who was a "prominent banker." Eventually Mrs. Allison introduced her to "Mr. David," who was Lamar.

Last November, according to Mr. San, Mrs. Brennan gave Lamar about $2,500 to be put into options on Mid-West stock. Mrs. Brennan, she turned over more money until the total was $6,300. Some of this money she paid to Mrs. Allison, the attorney said, to be given to Lamar.

The stock went up and Mrs. Brennan tried to close her options, Mr. San said, but Lamar failed to produce them. He finally gave them to her, signed in his name, according to the lawyer, but the stock had gone down and she lost her $6,300. During this speculation she had telephone conversations with William Murdoch, vice president of the Middle States Oil company, Mr. San said.

Later she complained to the district attorney's office, but was advised to go to a magistrate's court. A summons also was issued for Mr. Murdoch, charging complicity in the alleged swindle. The case against him came up three weeks ago before Magistrate Hattin in Yorkville court and was dismissed. Counsel for Lamar and Mrs. Allison obtained three adjournments. Both have promised to appear at tomorrow's hearing.

Radio Attic Dance Is Latest

ROANOKE, Va., April 26.—Keen interest has been manifested in Roanoke on Radio developments and private instruments are being operated in many homes of the city.

Several evenings ago, a gentleman, who is connected with one of the public utility companies of the city, entertained several friends at an informal "Radio Attic Dance" and the affair was novel and entirely successful. The musical renditions received over this new wireless-phone contrivance were very clear and audible. An orchestra in Pittsburgh furnished most of the music and when the guests had tired of dancing reports of stocks, maritime, weather, and other miscellaneous news were substituted for the "jazz."

Several evenings ago, a gentleman, who is connected with one of the public utility companies of the city, entertained several friends at an informal "Radio Attic Dance" and the affair was novel and entirely successful. The musical renditions received over this new wireless-phone contrivance were very clear and audible. An orchestra in Pittsburgh furnished most of the music and when the guests had tired of dancing reports of stocks, maritime, weather, and other miscellaneous news were substituted for the "jazz."

Poe's Old Home To Be Preserved

RICHMOND, April 26.—The Old Stone House, on Main, between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets, the oldest dwelling in the city, and rich in historic lore of days long past, was the logical choice for the Poe shrine, which will stage the Poe celebration here.

Built of stone during the reign of James II, and in its day perhaps the most pretentious residence in the city, it stands today just as it did in the old days, having been saved from threatened demolition by Granville G. Valentine, Mr. Valentine bought the house and presented it to the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities in 1912, but by reason of lack of funds the organization could do nothing but lease it to an antique dealer.

In 1921, Archer G. Jones leased the house from the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, and planned to renovate it by furnishing it with old colonial furniture and other appropriate material. But Mr. Jones' plans were changed when it became known that the Poe Memorial Association, headed by H. Whitney W. G. Starnard and Douglas Freeman were the backers, had a wealth of Poe material which had been saved from the old Messenger building, where Poe edited the "Southern Literary Messenger."

The whole project became a civic rather than an individual enterprise. On October 7, 1921, the anniversary of Poe's death, the Poe Memorial Association was re-organized; the large stones that made up the front of the Messenger building were used to erect a classic structure at one end of the garden, which will hold a memorial statue of Poe. The same plan was followed in restoring the house itself. Messenger building material being used wherever possible, with some of the old ware and fittings coming from the home of Elmira Royster, Poe's first and last sweetheart.

Blackstone M. A. Is Being Rebuilt For Second Time

BLACKSTONE, April 26.—Burned to the ground twice in the last 10 years, the rebuilding of Blackstone Military Academy is under way, and, who completed, the buildings will be among the finest and most modern of any preparatory school in the entire South. In the first fire occurred in January, 1913, and the large modern structure erected shortly thereafter was destroyed last February.

In order to lessen the hazard of fire, the institution will be housed in three buildings instead of one. The large dormitory will be erected in the shape of a quadrangle and will accommodate from 100 to 125 boys. The buildings will be equipped with all modern conveniences and will be near fireproof as possible. Every room of the dormitory will open on the court.

The administration building will include offices, study hall, class rooms, dining room and kitchen. The third building, a large gymnasium, will be a modern recreation center, equipped with shower baths, swimming pool, etc. A building already on the campus will be converted into an up-to-date hospital. Additional building plans, which will be put in effect at some later date, include a large dormitory, auditorium and alumni building.

Virginia Fruit Loss Put At $7,000,000

RICHMOND, April 27.—Henry M. Taylor, federal agricultural statistician for Virginia, estimated today that Virginia fruit growers will probably suffer a loss in excess of $7,000,000, because of cold wave and frost damage.

Reports in hand from various parts of the state indicate that at least 50 per cent. of the crop has been killed by last week's cold snap. The damage in the Piedmont belt is apparently less than that in other sections.

Last year the apple, peach and pear crop was practically a total loss. According to Mr. Taylor, this is the first time since the establishment of the federal bureau of crop estimates, in 1910, that the fruit crop in Virginia has been materially damaged by frost two years in succession. He said that notwithstanding the heavy yield of fruit in 1920, the growers have made but little profit since 1919, this being due to the fact that cost of production in 1920 resulted in a small net profit.

The method of protecting fruit in Virginia from the ravages of cold and frost have progressed no further than the experimental stage, he said. The use of fumigating pots is more or less successful, but this method calls for such a heavy financial outlay that only a few of the growers have found it expedient to adopt the practice.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 26.—What is believed to be a clay pipe record for the United States, if not for the world, is held by Henry Heath, veteran printer of Ellenville. He smoked the pipe 45 years, each day while at work, until it fell on the floor yesterday and was shattered.

Heath bought the pipe after the discovery by his father that he was smoking cigarettes.

Man Seriously Wounded In Fight at Lynchburg

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 26.—Henrywood ortune was shot and dangerously wounded here late today while in the rear of the City Market building here. Albert Chenault was held for the shooting.

Fortune is shot under both eyes. One of the balls going through his head. Physicians say he has an even chance to recover.

The two men and Chenault's wife entered the market building about the same time. The two men engaged in an argument in which Fortune is said to have invited Chenault out to settle the difficulty. They pushed through the market and drew a fight of steps in the street. Here, Chenault says, Fortune drew a knife on him and he fired at him. Witnesses say they did not see the knife. Both men refused to discuss causes leading up to the shooting.

Fortune is at liberty under a $10,000 bail bond, pending appeal in the Supreme Court of State from a seven-year sentence here last year on the charge of murdering a negro named John Bay.

The Danville Garden club will meet with Mrs. H. L. Boatwright Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Business of great importance to be transacted and a full attendance is requested.

Alienists Declare Sarah Knox Is Sane

MONTROSS, Va., April 26.—Hope of the defense of establishing an insanity plea for Sarah E. Knox, on trial here for the charge of murdering Margaret Eastman at Colonial Beach last fall, was given a setback when it became known today that eminent insanity experts of the State, among whom is Dr. J. E. DeJarnette, of the Western State hospital at Staunton, would testify that they recently made an examination of Miss Knox at the Richmond jail at request of defense and pronounced her sane.

The commonwealth had summoned, besides Dr. DeJarnette, Dr. William S. Drevy, of the Central State hospital at Petersburg. Commonwealth's Attorney Mayo says that their testimony would be along the line of that given by Dr. Taylor.

That the defense will, however, persist in efforts to show that Miss Knox was insane is the belief of Mr. Mayo. But he is of the opinion that it will take the form of trying to establish that she was insane at the time of the commission of the crime.

The grand jury indicted one hundred persons, 46 per cent. of the indictments being for violation of drug laws.

Wonderful For Sick Stomachs

That's What Every Stomach Sufferer Says After Taking One or Two Doses of Dr. Orth's Great Stomach Remedy.

Everyone who tries it willingly acknowledges that it does cure indigestion, and certainly banishes dyspepsia and other stomach distress almost instantly. Read this letter from Wm. Starkey, Rock Creek, Ohio:

I was sick for several years, went to hospital after getting no relief from doctors and many remedies that I tried. Unable to work, and confined to the house, I was advised to try Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy. I had no faith in anything any more, but I tried it and to my happy surprise it did me good. I am now perfectly well and for six months have been working every day in the blacksmith shop, doing everything I want and in perfect health.

It is with pleasure that I recommend Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy. Money back if Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy does not do what we say it will, and remember that this remarkable remedy is the prescription of a practicing physician who used it with great success in exactly such cases as yours during a period of 60 years. Frank B. McFall and all good druggists can supply you.—adv.

PIMPPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown face," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face. Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

DEDICATION OF GRAND MEMORIAL

(The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—Dedication of the massive Grant memorial in the National Botanic Garden, just west of the Capitol tomorrow, the centenary of the birth of the great Union military leader and president, will be marked with elaborate ceremonies in which surviving veterans of the Blue and Gray will take a leading part. All was declared in readiness tonight for the ceremonies.

The memorial which required 15 years to complete will be unveiled by two great grand-daughters of the military chieftain, Miss Edith Grant, and Princess Ida Cantacuzene. Secretary Weeks will present the memorial to the government and vice-President Coolidge will accept it, acting for President Harding who, fulfilling a previous engagement, will be honoring General Grant in an address at his birthplace at Point Pleasant, Ohio.

The memorial will be dedicated to the nation by Union and Confederate veterans. This portion of the ceremonies will be conducted by General Lewis L. Pulcher, Commanding-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and General Julian S. Carr, Commander-in-Chief of the United Confederate Veterans, or his representative.

The ceremonies of dedication will be preceded by a military parade from the White House down Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol in which will participate all regular army, navy and marine corps forces in the Washington district, a corps of cadets from the Military Academy, a battalion of midshipmen from the Naval Academy, members of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the United Confederate Veterans and representatives of various veteran and patriotic organizations. Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles will act as grand marshal of the parade.

DEFENSE WINS POINT IN TRIAL OF MINE WORKERS

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., April 26.—The United Mine Workers of America, on charges of treason and other offenses, alleged to have been committed in the marching and fighting last year, promises to be one of the great legal events in the history of the country, said John L. Lewis, international president to the union, after visiting the court today. Mr. Lewis said with the union's attorneys throughout the session today and saw the defense win its fight in the case of William Blizard, for amplification of the bill of particulars, filed by the State.

The bill alleged Blizard assisted in assembling the forces which crossed Boone county and battled with State and county forces on the Logan-Boone border, that he induced officers of local unions to provide funds for arming the attacking forces, that he directed them to invade Logan and Mingo counties and that he personally took part in the battles about Blair and furnished ammunition for the fighters. Another incident of the session was the claim on each side that its witnesses were being intimidated, statements that Judge Woods ruled were improper in the presence of talesmen. Mr. Lewis, in his statement after adjournment, called attention to the fact that the trials were not connected with the present coal strike and called the trials a godsend for the people of the State, because they brought citizens from widely separated portions and entirely different occupations into intimate contact. The right of workmen to organize and protect their own interests is the great issue that is at stake in these cases," he said.

Marine Forces Nab Rum-Runner In N. Y. Harbor

NEW YORK, April 26.—New York marine police today nabbed the second suspected rum-runner that has entered the harbor in the last 72 hours. This time it was the steam lighter Ideal, which was captured after a wild chase by two patrol boats along the Brooklyn shore, a volley of pistol shots fired by the police, and a hand-to-hand fight on the vessel's deck, in which night sticks and revolver bullets were freely used.

Monday morning it was the former sub-chaser 101, renamed the Fidus, that was caught and whose captain explained his embassy held by stiding that whisky he was taking from Bermuda to Montreal had been stolen by pirates. The crew of the Ideal reported that they had taken aboard their cargo of liquor from a three-masted schooner lying off Montauk Point.

Dry agents, who have been busy strengthening the barrier thrown along the Canadian border to stop the flow of liquor into the United States, to be impressed with the magnitude of rum runners this morning expressed the opinion that the schooner, which the Ideal met and put into the Maryland port for its supply. Revised valuation based on prevailing prices of $80 a case made the cargo worth $90,000.

United States Attorney Green who has been investigating the Fidus case, expressed belief that instead of having been raided by a pirate craft off Long Island, the ex-sub-chaser had transferred her stock of liquor to the fishing schooner Comanche, which was overhauled by revenue cutters off Atlantic City yesterday. No liquor was found aboard the Comanche, but burlap bags filled with bottles of Scotch, alleged to have been heaved overboard, were later fished out of 18 feet of water.

DEMPSEY GETS OFFER TO FIGHT FRENCH BOXER

PARIS, April 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Jack Dempsey this afternoon received an attractive offer from a group of prominent English sporting promoters to meet Georges Carpentier, the French champion, in London some time in the summer, provided Carpentier defeats Ted (Kid) Lewis on May 11. Neither Dempsey nor Manager Kearns would disclose the terms of the offer, but Kearns said it involved an immense purse and that Dempsey would probably accept. Dempsey had every confidence, he said, that he would repeat his victory over the Frenchman.

ALARM FOR TINY TRAVELERS

ATLANTIC CITY, April 26.—Policemen combing Ventnor City today and word was flashed to nearby points for trace of two missing 4-year-old boys, Tom Wilson, of No. 117, North Try avenue, and Phillip Keating, of Troy and Ventnor avenues. The Wilson child was finally located about 6 o'clock tonight, but the Keating boy is still missing and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Keating, are anxious for his safety.

The boys were playing together, when one suggested they go to Philadelphia. The father of one of them being a commuter, according to the Wilson boy, he boarded a trolley car, believing he was bound for Phila.

The little folk are taught, then, to make the things which dolls need. "Before they are through," explains Miss Bentley, principal, "is school life something separate from the outside world. Instead it is the means of understanding life. Every school activity should be an experience increasing the social efficiency of the child."

"The little girl knitting the sweater for the doll traces the wool back to the lamb. The boy building the house learns about lumbering. When they are through," explains Miss Bentley, "they all know that the necessities of life—food, shelter and interest."

U. S. PROPERTY AT LORAIN BE SOLD

LORAIN, Ohio, April 26.—Uncle Sam, Lorain's biggest individual land lord, is going out of business next month. The government has announced that it will dispose of its 232 dwelling houses in Lorain by auction with May 4 set as the tentative date for the sale.

The property is in the name of the United States Shipping Board. The real estate was acquired and the buildings erected in 1919 to house the families of men employed in the Lorain yards of the American Shipbuilding Co. Scores of ocean-going steamships were built here during the war period by the thousands of men in the shipyard.

The federal reservation is a forty-three acre plot. It is improved with paved streets, electric lights and other conveniences. The houses are well constructed, builders say. The entire project cost the government $1,950,000. An appraisal recently made, however, fixed the value at less than $1,000,000.

In addition to the federal appropriation for the building of the addition, the city of Lorain erected a large school building near the site. It now houses the Longfellow junior high school.

At present about a third of the houses are vacant. A year ago the shipping board started proceedings to evict many tenants for failure to pay rent. Many were forced to move but a public protest caused a cessation of evictions.

As the sale next month the properties will be offered to individual purchasers first. If sales do not result, it will be offered as a whole. Many real estate firms are investigating the offering with a view of bidding when the sale takes place.

The government's housing reservation at Wyandotte, Michigan, another lake shipbuilding point will be offered for sale at the same time. The Wyandotte offering will include 75 buildings on 25 acres.

NO CHECK COULD BE MADE OF DEAD

FT. WORTH, Texas, 26.—(Associated Press.)—With but three bodies recovered tonight, a check on the list of victims of the flood waters which have covered this city for two days, was impossible but the number of dead and missing was placed by the authorities at 62.

There was little rescue work to be done today but boats continued to ply through the waters. Residents of the north side probably suffered less than those in other parts of the city, although the property loss there probably was greater.

Mayor Cockrell declined an offer from Governor Neff, offering aid in caring for the flood sufferers. The mayor said that the local chapter of the Red Cross had the situation well in hand.

SEWER A MOONSHINE CACHE
OXFORD, Pa., April 26.—A boot-logger has been using a sewer inlet in the exact center of the borough as a cache for the "white mule," he has been dispensing about the place, the discovery being made by some small boys when a marble rolled into the inlet. They removed the cover to get the marble and found several rows of pints and half-pints in a neat array on a ledge.

The police were notified and removed more than 100 bottles of the moonshine, which evidently had been stored for delivery later. They watched for the owner, but he was evidently wise to the find and did not appear. The liquor will be emptied down the same inlet, according to the police.

BLUE DRAWS FIRST PENALTY

Bert Blue, first baseman of the Detroit club of the American League, is the first major league player to be suspended.

In the second series of the season, Blue became involved in an argument with Umpire Moriarty, over a called strike. It is needless to add that the umpire won the argument. Blue was sent to the club house.

Before taking his departure, Blue elected to say a lot of choice things to Umpire Moriarty. When these remarks were repeated to President Johnson, Blue was set down for three days.

VICTIM OF DENTAL MISHAP
TRENTON, April 26.—Mrs. Frank Winder, of No. 435 Culer avenue, whose husband is chief of the inspection division of the city water department, is in critical condition from a peculiar mishap. While Mrs. Winder was having a tooth filled last Wednesday a needle on the dentist's drill broke off, lodging in her jaw. Her jaws became locked and in order to remove the broken needle it was necessary to make an incision from the outside.

It has been found necessary to resort to artificial feeding and the condition of Mrs. Winder is now grave. Hopes for her ultimate recovery are entertained, however.

ANTI-FOLLETTE FORCES LINING UP FOR FIGHT

MADISON, Wis., April 26.—"Bob" La Follette, U. S. Senator for three terms, and Republican leader since election as Governor in 1900, has at his hands this summer and fall.

Sentiment in the state capital is strong that La Follette cannot be beaten, either in the primary or election.

But the "anti-La Follette" Republicans will fight him bitterly clear to the finish. They will also fight every La Follette candidate down the line.

Every candidate of the La Follette organization, now in power in the state administration, will have an avowed anti-La Follette opponent, and the fight this summer promises to be the fiercest that Wisconsin, always a hotbed of politics, ever saw.

The "same progressives," as the anti-La Follette organization dubs its members, will nominate a full slate of candidates, including state officers and senators, at a state convention in Milwaukee, June 1, called by the Committee of Forty-Four.

William J. Morgan, now attorney general, who entered politics as a "dark horse" in the last campaign, is the outstanding candidate for governor among the anti-La Folletteites, and will probably be nominated to oppose Governor John J. Blaine, who is a La Follette partisan, in his fight for the Republican nomination at the primaries.

Results of the Republican primary specially mean election as neither Democrats nor Socialists for years have mustered strength enough to defeat the Republicans at the polls.

The Non-Partisan League, with a large membership of farmers, has elected to influence elections by throwing its voting strength to one faction or the other of the Republican party.

The powerful La Follette organization has already announced a full slate ticket: Governor Blaine, and Lieutenant Governor George Combs will be candidates for reelection.

Fred Zimmerman, a Milwaukee lawyer, for secretary of state; Herman Ekern, prominent La Follette leader, for attorney general, and Solomon Leighton, Madison banker, for state treasurer, complete the ticket. Elmer S. Hall, present secretary of state, will be a La Follette candidate for Congress from the ninth district, but other congressmen have little opposition to re-nomination.

Campaigning will be fierce beginning next month, through the summer up to the September primary. Senator La Follette will return to the Badger state to match his popularity and oratory against the opponents he calls "reactionaries."

Senator Irvin L. Loomis, elected by La Follette's opponents, will also return to take up the gauntlet of battle, although his term does not expire until 1926.

The search for an opponent is being pursued unabated, but so far no opponent for La Follette has been selected. Campaign issues are not wanting, however. Here the Blaine-La Follette partisans have taken the offensive.

Governor Blaine called a special session of the legislature late in March, for the purpose of repealing the secrecy clause of the state income tax law, and the solons refused to pass the bill. The governor is now demanding the return of a legislature which will throw open the state tax returns.

The Newberry case, over which Senator La Follette bolted his party, will receive much attention. Blaine at Fond du Lac recently declared that Newberry's gold was being used against La Follette, the same as it was used against Ford.

A recent speech by Kate Richards O'Hare, St. Louis Socialist campaigner who served 14 months of a 5-year federal sentence for obstructing the draft, in the state capital here has been the subject of much editorializing by the anti-La Follette papers on account of the fact that Governor Blaine refused to intervene when America Legion members demanded that he rescind the permission to use the state-house. This is being used in conjunction with accusations against La Follette's war record.

The stands to be taken by the Non-Partisan League and the Socialists both strong voting units have not yet been announced, but their support is apt to throw the nomination and consequently the election to either side, as far as the state officers are concerned. The N. P. L. supported Blaine when he was first elected two years ago, but rumors of a change in attitude have followed the appointment last week of Chester Platt, former New York State newspaperman, as state manager. Blaine has been under fire from his own organization on account of several other appointments.

ASTORS ADDRESS 2 MASS-MEETINGS

BALTIMORE, Md., April 26.—Lord and Lady Astor addressed two mass-meetings here tonight, one an overflow gathering which assembled at the Boscawen Hotel after the doors had been closed to them at a "roof" garden in which 3,000 men and women were jammed to hear the Virginia girl who became the first woman member elected in the House of Commons.

The meetings were arranged by the National League of Women Voters. Both Lady Astor and "the husband of Lady Astor" as the viscount said he had often been decided, appealed to America to join the League of Nations. Lord Astor explained that his wife was not the ordinary legislator who was satisfied with the world as it is. She was trying to make it what it isn't.

RIO WOMEN ALSO GET THE KILLING HABIT

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 26.—A series of murders has been holding the attention of Rio de Janeiro for months. In most of them, a woman killed a man.

Rio was startled by the newspaper headlines telling of the shooting in his own office of Dr. Arnaldo Quintella, one of the most respected physicians in the city, who made a specialty of treating women's ailments. The woman who shot him, Rachel Martins, was according to the account published a former patient of the doctor.

Dr. Quintella was alone, working in his office when Rachel Martins was admitted as a patient. Recently, the doctor had performed upon Rachel a necessary operation which was at the time entirely satisfactory. However, the doctor was later informed that Rachel at times showed signs of being rationally unbalanced. The doctor again received her as a patient, heard her case, and was about to prescribe for her when Rachel drew a revolver and fired two shots point-blank, killing the doctor instantly.

TWO COURSES ARE OPEN TO CUBANS

HAVANA, April 26.—(By the Associated Press)—"Voluntary economic adjustment or financial intervention by the United States," is, according to La Prensa, the basis of a report which has been submitted to the Cuban government by Carlos Manuel De Cespedes, Cuban minister to the United States.

The above statement is contained in a news article published in La Prensa, which declares that President Zayas is fully alive to the economic and international situation of Cuba, and that it is his knowledge that has prompted his numerous attempts during the first year of his administration to secure congressional action toward a reduction of government expenses where a point will be reached giving Cuba a surplus for paying off her overdue obligations.

BEST MANAGERS MAKE MISTAKES IN PICKING 'EM

The Richmond Times-Dispatch, commenting on the premature, if not erroneous report that Shortstop Jesse Banker had been signed by Danville, says:

"When the Danville team takes the field the fans of the tobacco city will be puzzled as to whether Danville is representing their city or Richmond, for the former club will be seen in Danville uniforms. Abbott, catcher and manager, 'Cudge' Harris, pitcher, Nelson Green, pitcher, and 'Ducky' Holmes, outfielder and catcher, are the former Richmond players now with the Bugs."

Well, the Tobaccoists looked pretty good to Richmonders when they slammed the ball all over the field for double-figure scores and defeated Ryan's hopefuls recently in two straight games in Richmond's own ball yard. The best managers let some of the good ones get away. As John McGraw can testify, the Giants' manager has just bought Heinie Groh back to a fancy price and he would doubtless be glad to have some of the others he has let go. The Yankees too, have let such boxmen as Urban Shocker and Mogridge get away from them, when either would have given the Huggins outfit a better look-in on world-series money and honors.

MINISTER MUST STAND TRIAL FOR MARRYING PERSONS IN BATHING

LAWTON, Okla., April 26.—Reverend Thomas J. Irwin, founder and for 20 years pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, who recently performed a marriage ceremony at a public swimming pool, in which the people were bathing suits, must stand trial before a church commission on charges of "conduct unbefitting a minister." Trial of the minister was decided upon at a session today of the El Reno Presbytery.

PRESIDENTIAL TRAIN ON TIME

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, April 26.—(Associated Press)—The special train on which President Harding is en route to Ohio to speak at the Centenary of General Grant at the birthplace in Point Pleasant made good time tonight on its swing through Maryland and upper West Virginia. The president was in excellent spirits as he boarded the train and tonight looked forward with pleasure to his visit to the birthplace of the great general.

In the presidential party is Mrs. Henry C. Corbin, widow of another famous general whose Point Pleasant gave to the world. He was elevated to the rank of Lieutenant General for his services in the Spanish American war and Ohioans recalled tonight with pride the memory of this son, who ranks next to General Grant in the history of the little town.

DIG FOR PIRATE GOLD

CAPITOL HILL, April 26.—A syndicate of business men is to be formed headed by Jay E. Macray, to try to recover the $3,000,000 Spanish gold said to be in the hold of the Spanish galleon wrecked on the bar off Turtle Gut Inlet in the early part of the last century. It is understood from old residents who heard others talk about the vessel that it was the Matanzas, manned by pirate divers off the Spanish coast after they had looted several vessels and taken gold being shipped to European countries.

The pirate ship went on the bar in a terrific storm and only one of the crew saved a Portuguese slave, who was washed ashore on Two-Mile Beach and lived many years with farmers in the lower part of Cape May county. The vessel lies about seven miles north of this city, under tons of sand, and at low tide it is said one can walk over the vessel without wetting the feet.

In the late '80's, Captain George Hildreth, of the Cold Spring coast-guard station, organized a company to try to recover the gold, but because of lack of capital the project had to be abandoned. It is understood that capitalists from Philadelphia and New York will be in the syndicate.

In Atlanta, schools, banks and public buildings observed a holiday and a parade of veterans and other military organizations was followed by appropriate exercises at Oakland cemetery.

DRAKES BRANCH, April 27.—(Grapevine Wireless).—Last night, after putting the children to bed and turning out the light, I was sitting at the clock and looking at the back gate. We sat down under the evening lamp with friend Jimmy pipe and proceeded to read the "The Great Secret Service Story of the War." When we strike something out of the ordinary run of later day romance and fiction, we like to pass the good news and the story is lost, which are vouchered by the editor himself, and is a real thriller. It tells of two American officers assigned to the Intelligence Department of General Pershing's staff, who made their way into Germany in an enemy submarine and later to the front lines. The story is a real thriller, and the dangers encountered; the valuable information secured and brought back through No Man's Land, which greatly aided the Allied commanders in carrying through the closing chapters of the great war to glorious victory. This is the greatest story of the war that we have read, it contains a thousand thrills that will quicken the pulse beat and make the heart swell with pride. Talk about your 100 per cent. stuph! Here it is. Take it from me.

Archibald Gray and M. R. D. Brown went joy riding into North Carolina last Sunday, nothing unusual in this except that they were in such a hurry to get back that a foxy constable checked up their speed on the Yankeeville road and collected the usual ten-and.

FLYING PLANE. SANTA MARIA HAS BEEN FOUND

MIAMI, Fla., April 26.—The flying plane Santa Maria and her seven crew members, missing since 6 o'clock Monday morning when they put out of Key West for Nassau, were reported safe in Nassau tonight after a day's search.

The plane was found at Williams Island near the Bahamas group at noon today by a patrol plane which was one of a fleet sent out to comb the waters for the missing aircraft.

The Santa Maria was forced down on the island Monday morning after battling a heavy rising wind and rain, and was exhausted by her gasoline supply. As there is no wireless station on the island her pilots were unable to communicate their plight to the outside world.

Three passengers on the plane, Dr. Eugene Lowe and Leslie Curry, of New York, and a woman named Mary Hays, were being carried to Nassau by a C. D. Schuler, an aviator who had been seriously injured in an attack last week. When the Santa Maria met with mishap they were sent on to their destination in a boat. The pilots stayed aboard the plane.

NEW ELECTION PLAN IS NOW THE AIM OF JAMESTOWN "MUNY MAYOR"

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 27.—Mayor Samuel A. Carlson of Jamestown is out to abolish party primaries in city elections.

It has a reactionary sound. Mayor Carlson, however, has the reputation of being about as progressive a municipal executive as there is anywhere in the United States.

Time was when he was considered an ultra radical, but now that he is serving his eighth two-year term they are growing accustomed to his views and ways.

This isn't the first time he has surprised Jamestown with his plans. He favors municipal markets, water, electricity, milk, gas and coal and insurance. And he's getting them.

It is because Jamestown, with its population of 40,000-odd, is so strongly Republican that the mayor, a Republican himself, objects to the primary system, for his city doesn't want to have to put up with election days. Just one direct election is what he favors.

"The municipal election we held on March 28 simply was a repetition of our primary on March 4," he says. "We should have one citizens' election as we do for members of the school board."

End of Party Rhle. Neither is Mayor Carlson a friend of the government of cities on the ward alderman plan, nor yet is he a believer in the commission government idea.

Instead of a common council, he contends, "there should be elected from the city at large three commissioners, on salary for full-time service, plus as many non-salaried commissioners as can poll 1,000 or more votes apiece. Nominations should be by petition, requiring say 100 names per candidate."

"Each voter should be entitled to a ballot for the three salaried commissioners, for one without salary and to an expression of his choice for mayor from among the names on this list."

The arrangement is one which would enable groups of citizens to unite on civic rather than on party lines. Also it would give proportional representation to minorities in a simpler fashion.

Carlson wants the city charter so altered as to provide for all these things, though he says Jamestown is better governed already than most cities.

TEN SMALL BOYS TRIED FOR BEING INTOXICATED

HOPEWELL, Va., April 26.—Ten small boys, ranging in age from 9 to 11 years, and pupils in the Hopewell grammar schools, were arraigned before Judge Thomas B. Robertson, in the Hopewell corporation court today on charges of drunkenness.

The testimonies showed the children had appeared on the school campus in an intoxicated condition and that they had a store of whisky concealed beneath the school building and were dispensing it at fifteen cents a drink to the other pupils.

During the course of the trial, one small boy stated he knew where he could procure whisky at any time. Money was given him and he was told to buy some. He disappeared and reappeared in a few moments with a quart of whisky which he had purchased. The arrest of the seller followed.

NORFOLK DISTRICT BEAN CROP RUINED BY FROST

NORFOLK, Va., April 26.—Freezing temperatures and heavy frost of last night practically wiped out the bean crop in Western Branch and Deep Creek districts. Light frosts Sunday and Monday mornings did comparatively little damage, it is said, but last night carried in a degree of cold which carried the early beans by the board.

Damage is estimated at from two-thirds to a total loss varying with the proximity of the crop to salt water. Fields near the waterfront suffered less than those removed from it.

Potatoes are reported to have been cut down in a few sections by the frost, but this only means a setback, as the plants will send up new sprouts. It may mean a later crop than would otherwise have been the case and slightly smaller yield.

Strawberry plants were still carrying some blooms, and these were killed, but most of the fruit is already set in clusters and the frost will not hurt these. The result, however, is apt to be a shorter yield of berries.

Apple and stone fruits are already formed and were not damaged by frost or freeze, it is believed.

HARDING GOES TO POINT PLEASANT

WASHINGTON, April 26.—President Harding accompanied by Mrs. Harding and a number of friends left Washington late today for Point Pleasant, Ohio, where he will deliver the address tomorrow at exercises commemorating the centennial of the birth of General Grant.

The presidential train is due in Cincinnati tomorrow morning from where the party will proceed to Point Pleasant by boat. The president intends to return to Cincinnati immediately after delivering his address and is expected back to Washington Friday.

At Point Pleasant, the president will be met by Governor Davis, of Ohio, and many representatives from that state as well as others in official life in Washington.

THE N. C. BANKERS MEET AT RESORT

PINEHURST, N. C., April 26.—The North Carolina bankers association in the opening session of its 25th annual convention today adopted a new constitution extending recognition to the industrial bank and tonight, after a day of agricultural discussion, heard Judge Charles F. Moore, of New York, in an address on "Dollars and Sense."

Former Congressman R. N. Page, welcoming the bankers to Pinehurst this morning, urged for North Carolina the tolerance that has resulted in an increase in the banking resources of Moore county from a quarter of a million to five million in one decade.

"If a man will spend a few thousand dollars starting a peach orchard and a quarter million dollars building a hotel, he can vote the Republican ticket without censure," he declared.

KILLED AT CROSSING

BRISTOL, Va., Tenn., April 26.—W. C. Gallen, 45, farmer, was instantly killed this morning near the railroad station in Marion, when a car in which he was riding was struck by a Norfolk and Western passenger train.

Gallen was alone in the car, which was derailed. He is the third person to have been killed at the Marion crossing in the past two years.

MAYOR SAMUEL CARLSON

and cheese will follow automatically," he says.

If Law Permits. Carlson has under consideration a proposition to establish a plant for making municipal gas from fuel oil at an estimated cost to the consumer of 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. A committee is discussing a municipal coal mine if the law will let him do so.

Speaking of insurance, Carlson says: "Our fire department costs $100,000 yearly, our insurance about $500,000 and last year our fire loss was only $75,000. Why should the insurance companies take so much money out of town?" He wants to make policemen out of the firemen, too, instead of keeping them in the stations, waiting for fires. Naturally, the firemen favor neither of these plans.

For its government, not counting schools, Jamestown pays under three cents per capita per day.

was a frame building which union carpenters volunteered to put up, from old lumber belonging to the city, on a leased site. Rental of space paid for the present large brick structure. The waterworks are of capacity sufficient for a city of more than twice Jamestown's size. The electric plant furnishes light at 6.34 and power, during off-peak hours, at from 2-1/2 to 5 cents per kilowatt.

The milk project is in litigation. If the mayor wins, "a municipal ice plant and municipally-made butter

VETS NAME HER BEST OF ANTI-FLAPPERS

AGNES DOHONEY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—Here's the California "Convention Girl," selected by the Disabled American War Veterans in a unique beauty contest. Agnes Dohoney is her name.

Among the conditions of the contest were these: "No flappers, or flapper types shall be allowed to enter, or shall be considered if they enter."

Old-fashioned beauty, plus character, will be an important factor in judging the winner.

Contestants must have demonstrated that they have brains as well as beauty.

The winner will be chief of the hostesses during the veterans' national convention here in June. Also she will be the model for convention posters.

FATHER NEPTUNE OUGHT TO ENJOY THIS SUMMER

EVERY sort of material is being used for swimming suits this season, from gingham and cretonne among the cottons, to velvet and cashmere. Of course jersey, both wool and silk, will make many bathing costumes, while taffeta and satin will form many more, if the suits worn at Palm Beach are an authentic indication.

At first thought, crepe may seem rather a thin and clinging fabric from which to fashion a bathing suit which is expected to get wet. But it is delightfully light, even when wet, as wool never is, and the beauty of it is that it is dry two minutes after the swimmer is out of the water with warm sunshine and a brisk breeze blowing.

Stockings and shoes should match the bathing suit, or the prevailing colors. The bandana or cap, however, may match the costume or be in distinct contrast.

The rubber flowers with which caps and suits may be adorned come in every color and are especially effective on dark suits. However, it is on the beach rather than while in the water that the fair bather knows she is most picturesque, and she may wear a demure suit of black taffeta and depend for color entirely upon the capery of her bandana, her beach parasol and her extremely important cape.

The bather of 1922 might go along without any ocean, if there were plenty of beach, but she just can't get along without a cape. This she will have of chintz lined with silk, of warm, soft wool, or of Terry cloth, which is reversible and easily patterned on both sides.

JAZZ BUT CLEVER SATIRE ON MUSIC SAYS KREISLER. PRINCETON, N. J., April 26.—Jazz is no worse than the old-fashioned waltz, Fritz Kreisler, famous violinist, said tonight. Looked upon as a clever satirist and a humorous turn of the musical world, there is nothing objectionable about it, he declared in discussing modern music before his concert at Princeton University.

The White Desert

BEGIN HERE TODAY. A father's lack of confidence in his son's ability caused.

BARRY HOUSTON, to inherit a lumber mill on condition that he maintain a high output. A series of mysterious accidents are preventing this and when young Houston arrives in the Colorado timber lands he finds that his superintendent,

FRED THAYER, has been systematically wrecking his plant. In making the discoveries, Houston has been assisted by

BATISTE RENAUD, an eccentric French-Canadian who puts the practice of medicine and retired to a cabin to forget the double tragedy of his son's death in France and the murder of his wife. He nurses Houston back to health when the latter's automobile plunges over a cliff. Houston, to deceive Thayer, feigns complete loss of memory. In Batiste's cabin, Houston meets

MEDALINE ROBINETTE, a girl who owns the adjoining timber lands. Suddenly, Thayer arrives from the railroad station with

AGNES JERDON, a girl who has a mysterious hold on Houston. GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII

THE woman in the buggy was holding forth her hands to him and he assented to her ground.

"Well," she asked, in a sudden fawning manner, "aren't you going to kiss me?"

"Of course." He took her in his arms. "I was so surprised, Agnes, I never thought of you."

"Naturally you didn't." It was Thayer again. "That's why I sent for her. Thought you'd get your memory back when—"

"I've had my memory for long enough," Houston had turned upon him coldly—"to know that from now on I'll run this place. You're through!"

Three hours later, the last of the men paid off. Barry Houston approached the door of Batiste's cabin. Barry raised his hand to knock—and halted. His name had been mentioned angrily, then again—

"I don't know what it is, Batiste. Fred wouldn't tell me, except that it was something too horrible for me to know. I can't be pleasant to him when I feel this way."

She ceased. Houston had knocked on the door. A second later, he entered the cabin, to return Medaline Robinette's cool but polite greeting.

"I'm afraid I've stayed longer than I intended," she apologized. "It's late. Good night."

Then she was gone. Houston looked at Batiste, but the old French-Canadian merely waved a big hand.

"Woman," he said daintily. "Peuff! Eet is nothing. Eet will pass. Now, what must Batiste do?"

"At the mill? I wish you'd guard it for me. I'm going to Denver on the morning train to hire a new crew. 'Ah, out. It shall be.'"

The next evening brought Barry to Denver, and the three days which followed carried with them the sweaty smell of the employment offices and the gathering of a new crew. Then, tired, anxious with an eagerness that he never before had known, he turned back to the mill.

With his rough-faced men about him, Houston reached Tabernacle, and started the journey to the mill.

Into the canon and to the last rise. Then a figure showed before him, a giant form, turning and tumbling through the underbrush at one side of the road, a dog bounding beside him. It was Batiste, excited, red-faced, his arms waving like wind-mills, his voice booming even from a distance.

"M'sieu Houston! M'sieu Houston! Batiste have. Batiste no good! He come! He is glad you come! Batiste! Shame! Ashame!"

They had hidden the top of the mill. Below, the last something which carried Barry Houston to leap to his feet unmindful of the jolting wagon, to stand weeping with white-gripped hands, to stare with suddenly deadened eyes.

"Upon blackened, smoldering mass of charred timbers and twisted machinery. The remainder of all that once had been his mill!"

CHAPTER VII "EET was my fault!" The French-Canadian still stared at the ruins. "Eet is all Batiste's fault."

"I thought you were my friend, Batiste."

"Sacre! I am!" "Then show it! I've got about fifteen thousand in the bank. Turn it over to me, and I'll give you a new sawed and money to buy a few saws. And I need help—I won't be able to move without you. But—"

"But," and Barry smiled at him, "if you ever mention my responsibility for this thing again—you're fired. Do we understand each other?"

The next morning Barry went to Denver, and in a week returned to Tabernacle, thence across country to the mill.

He found no Batiste but there was something else which held Houston's interest for a moment and which stopped him, staring wonderingly into the distance. A new skidway had made its appearance on the side of the jutting mountain nearest the dam. Logs were tumbling downward in slow, but steady succession, to disappear, then to show themselves bobbing jerry round toward the center of the lake. A thunderous voice was booming beligerently from the distance.

"You He-un-stan," Batiste say you He—if you no like eet, just what you say climb up me! He-un-stan? Climb up me!"

Houston broke into a run, racing along the flume with constantly increasing speed as he heard outburst after outburst from the giant trapper, interjected by the lesser sounds of argumentative voices in reply. Faintly he heard a woman's voice, then Batiste's in sudden command:

"Go on—you no belong here. Batiste, he hadie this. Go long!" Houston at last made the turn of the road as it followed the flume, and the broad back of the Canadian, squared as he was, half across the road. Facing him were five men with shovels and hammers, workmen of the Blackburn camp. Houston looked more closely, then gasped. It was another flume; they were making a connection with his own.

"What's this mean?" he demanded angrily.

The foreman looked up caustically. "I've told you about ten times," he answered, addressing himself to Batiste. "We're building a connection on our flume."

"Our flume?" Houston gasped the words. "I own this flume and this lake and this flume site—"

"If your name's Houston, I guess you do," came the answer. "But if you can read and write, you ought to know that while you may own it, you don't use it. That's our privilege from now on, in cold black and white. As far as the law is concerned, this is our flume, and our water, and our lake, and our woods back there. And we're going to use all of 'em, as much as we please—and it's your business to stay out of our way!"

CHAPTER VIII THE statement took Houston off his feet for a moment; but recovery came just as quickly, a recoil with the red splashes of anger blazing before his eyes, the surge of hot blood sweeping through his veins, the heat of conflict in his brain. His good hand clenched. A leap and he had struck the foreman on the point of the chin, sending him reeling backward, while the other men rushed to his assistance.

"That's my answer to you!" shouted Houston.

"Run tell Thayer," shouted the foreman, and then, with reverent awe, he turned for a cant hook. But Batiste seized it first.

"Here comes somebody!" Batiste's grip tightened about the cant hook and he rose, squaring himself. Houston seized the hub and stood waiting a few feet in the rear, in readiness for anyone who might evade the blizzard of blows which Batiste evidently intended to set up.

A moment more, and Batiste, with a sudden exclamation, allowed his cant hook to drop to the ground.

"Eet is Thayer and Wade, the sheriff from Montview, and his deputy. Peuff! Have he fool heem too?"

The sheriff pulled two legal documents from his pocket and unfolded them, had shown Houston the bottom of each. Barry's eyes opened wide.

"That's—that's my signature," came at last.

"This one's the same, isn't it?" The second paper was shoved forward.

"Yes."

"Then I don't see what you're kicking about. Do you know anyone named Jenkins, who is a notary public?"

"Yes."

"Then look 'em over. If that isn't a lease to the lake and flume and flume site, and if the second one isn't a contract for stumpage at a dollar and a half a thousand feet—well, give it to them." Houston had reached for the papers with a trembling hand. "I don't remember."

"Didn't you?" Thayer had turned to the sheriff. "There he goes pulling that loss of memory stunt again. That's one of his best little bets," he added sneering, "to lose his memory."

"No—never lost it yet."

"No—then you can forget things awfully easy. Such as coming out here and pretending not to know who you were. You can't even remember the night you murdered your own cousin, can you?"

"That's a—"

"See sheriff? His memory's bad." All the malice and hate of pent-up enmity was in Fred Thayer's voice now. One grand hand went forward in accusation. "He can't even remember how he killed his own cousin. But if he can't, I can. Ask him about the time when he slipped that mallet in his pocket at a prize fight and then got on out with his cousin. Ask him what became of Tom Langdon after they left that prize fight. He won't be able to tell you, of course. He loses his memory; all he will be able to remember is that his father spent a lot of money and hired some good lawyers and got him out of it. He won't be able to tell you a thing about how his own cousin was found with his skull crushed in, and the bloody wooden mallet lying beside him—the mallet that this fellow had stolen the night before at a prize fight! He won't!"

Millions In Bogus Bonds Circulated

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The statement was made on the floor of the House today by Representative Johnson, Republican, South Dakota, that it "will later be shown by official documents that there are probably hundreds of millions of dollars of duplicate bonds in the United States."

Prompt denial of the statement was made by high treasury officials, who declared that there are no such documents in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Johnson said that he had seen the documents in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury, and that he had seen them in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury, and that he had seen them in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury.

CHARGES ARE WITHOUT FOUNDATION, SAYS MELLON that the country is flooded with millions of dollars worth counterfeit currency, Federal Reserve notes, government securities and stamps, "are wholly without foundation."

Secretary Mellon declared tonight in a letter to Frank J. Coleman, editor of the Plate Printer.

Mr. Mellon's letter was in response to one from Mr. Coleman submitting at the secretary's request, evidence upon which such charges were published in the Plate Printer, a publication of the union plate printer employed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

During the fiscal year 1931, he stated, counterfeiters to the amount of $126,993 were recorded against the circulation of $4,588,223,982, but of the former sum $108,625 was captured before the issues were placed in circulation, and $78,546 was raised notes, leaving the amount of counterfeit notes recorded as in circulation during the year only $14,522.

Challenging the Johnson statement, Representative Wingo, Arkansas, Democratic member of the House banking committee, declared it was calculated to cause uneasiness in the country and that he did not believe Mr. Johnson ought to make it "unless he can back it up as the truth."

Mr. Wingo expressed belief that an investigation would show that Secretary Mellon in denying "reckless charges" about the existence of duplicate bonds "did not lie to the people of the country."

As a basis for his charge as to alleged circulation of spurious securities, Mr. Johnson said that J. W. McCarter, assistant registrar of the treasury during the Wilson administration, "secured information in the course of his duties which convinced him that there had been enormous duplication of government bonds which had been printed by the bureau of engraving and printing and had gone through the office of the registrar of the treasury."

"I think Mr. McCarter took the right attitude when he presented the matter first to a distinguished Democratic senator from my State and very properly presented the matter to the assistant secretary of the treasury," Mr. Johnson continued. "He was very quickly informed at that time by the former administration that nothing was wrong; that there should be no investigation and that he should keep his mouth shut or get out of the country."

Mr. Johnson said that he had developed the fact that will later be shown by official documents that there are probably hundreds of millions of dollars of duplicate bonds in the United States, was discharged from service by his administration for presenting those facts to members of Congress. I think a man who took that attitude in the former administration was ill-advised in what he had done."

Mr. Johnson added: "I will say that that is all a matter of public record. I took personally all of this data down to the department of justice myself early in the year 1931 after we had tried in every way to secure action from the former administration."

Mr. Wingo asked: "Does the gentleman have information upon which he can pass a conclusion that there are millions of duplicate bonds printed?"

"I will say that the gentleman that I took down seven typewritten sheets, single space, of number of duplicate bonds, and some bonds running 100,000 higher than the bonds issued," Mr. Johnson replied. "There is no man who can tell how many were issued."

"I will say I am satisfied there is truth in it, because I remember at one time it was shown conclusively that a colored taxicab driver in Washington was discovered down in front of the New Willard with thirty-one $1,000 duplicate bonds, and he was discharged from custody in four days. I will say that the gentleman that I submitted six pages of duplicate bonds."

Mr. Johnson was asked if he had any information as to what the check-up at the bureau of engraving and printing to those things, divulged.

"I have no information as to that," he replied. "That has not been a part of my duties. I will say that my investigation, which was of an independent character, and which not only produced some of the facts which no one denied came to another branch of the government, and the exact part in detail which individuals have had in this, I am not able to tell."

High treasury officials declared in commenting on the case today that the charges by former Assistant Registrar McCarter denied by former Secretary of the Treasury Houston at the time as baseless and in the opinion of the treasury effectively disposed of. A taxicab driver was arrested during the time they added, with Liberty bonds which were found to have been stolen, but not duplicates.

Danville Loses First Game To Furniture Makers

(Special Telephone Service)

HIGH POINT, April 26.—The Furniture Makers celebrated the opening of the Piedmont season here today by defeating Manager Abbott's aggregation from Danville by the score of 5 to 3. Errors on both sides figured largely in the runs.

Atkinson who did the box work for the visitors pitched a good game allowing only one run, but errors at a critical time proved costly to his team. Eldridge, the local's dependable left hander, allowed nine hits but kept them fairly well scattered. Regan, who pitched for the runs for Danville, held scoreless until the third inning, the Furniture Makers scored three runs on two hits, a base on balls and an error. Three thousand fans who motored over from Danville witnessed this afternoon's contest. The visitors chances for scoring further were cut down by three fast double plays, the story:

DANVILLE HIGH PLAYS AMHERST ON LOCAL GROUNDS

Danville High school baseball team plays Amherst High school here today at Stonewall Jackson park. The Amherst team played Chatham Training school yesterday and were badly beaten, the score being 10 to 0.

The Chatham boys hit the opposing pitcher hard, while Everhart for Chatham allowed no hits, and only two men to reach first. One of the men reaching first got as far as second. The hurler also struck out 12 men. Playing behind him was excellent.

The hitting of the training school team was heavy, 11 clean bingles being made.

Darlington will hurl today's game for Danville, and from his record in the past, Amherst bids fair to run up against another stiff pitching proposition.

The game will be called at 4 o'clock.

BRYAN IS AGAIN INVITED TO MAKE ADDRESS TO I. S. S.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 26.—Refugees of an invitation to William Jennings Bryan to speak at the international Sunday School convention at Kansas City next June was decided upon today at a meeting of the convention program committee. Withdrawal of an invitation extended Mr. Bryan last December had brought numerous protests.

Today's action was taken after consideration had been given to these protests and representations had been made by a delegation from Kansas City.

In announcing that Mr. Bryan again would be asked to address the convention today in a statement regarding formal denials that with him had been caused by Mr. Bryan's religious or theological beliefs. A merger of the international Sunday School association and the Sunday School Council to form the International Sunday School Council of religious education resulted in a change in program policies, it was stated, and several invitations to prominent speakers were withdrawn. TEBPLARS TAKE UP PLAN TO HELP EDUCATIONALLY

NEW ORLEANS, April 26.—A plan suggested by Grand Master J. K. Orr, by which $400,000 would be expended by the Knights Templars each year for the education of American boys and girls was considered as some length by the grand encampment of the order here today. No decision was reached.

The report of a special committee, headed by S. P. Browning, grand commander of the order, recommended that $100,000 be transferred from the permanent fund as a nucleus for the proposed educational plan and that each of the 400,000 Knights Templars in the United States be assessed $1 a year to provide for the philanthropy.

A feature of today's sessions of the grand encampment was the exemplification of the secret floor-work of the order by the Long Beach, commandery team, which put on the work in full ceremonial form. This is said to be the first time in 50 years that an individual commandery has been permitted to go through such a ritual, and a large throng of more than 35,000 Templars in the city turned out to witness the spectacle.

At Heineemann Park, all day long, the teams went through through drills. Ten other teams will drill tomorrow.

Tonight's parade, in which "Facts about Fairies" were depicted in a series of floats which rivaled any seen here in fifty years at Mardi Gras, gave the young folk, and older ones too, much impressive instructions as to the denizens of "fairylund."

The showing made by yesterday's Templar parade was today the chief topic of conversation throughout the city, officers announcing today that approximately 17,000 Templars were in the line of March.

LIST OF DEAD IN FT. WORTH FLOOD STILL GROWING

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 26.—Continued reports of dead and missing in the flood that has engulfed Fort Worth for two days, tonight had brought the list to fifty-nine. A check is not yet possible and verification of the unofficial reports are held up while the flooded areas are searched by rescuers. Three bodies have been recovered.

The list of injured remained at 29, according to reports from the hospitals. The property loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

The levee board will investigate the reported dynamiting of the embankments in several places Monday night as soon as the flood waters recede, according to M. L. McCain, board chairman. Board members he said, did not believe that the water could have torn the holes in the levees which were pronounced in excellent condition recently.

Action looking to the prevention of future flooding of the city's utilities plants probably will be taken after the flood recedes. Mayor E. R. Cockrell stated tonight. Water service was made available today when the flood water which put the plant out of commission yesterday was pumped out by the fire department.

The latest report of the river stage was 36 feet, but recession since this afternoon was expected to bring it down rapidly. All railroads reported improved conditions today and operation on schedules is expected by tomorrow night.

GERMANY AGREES TO RESUME SALE OF DYES TO U. S.

PARIS, April 26.—(By The Associated Press.)—Germany has finally agreed to resume the sale of dyes to the textile industry of America without reserve, following a three-months period during which she had refused to sell any dyes to tie alliance and then consented to sell a limited amount.

This decision resulted from a recent conference in Germany between an official of the alliance and the head of the German dye alliance. It is regarded by the American alliance officials as a distinct victory for the textile industry of America. It would soon, in their belief, normalize the shipment of dyes from Germany to the United States.

The refusal of Germany to sell dyes to the American alliance has seriously embarrassed the textile industry in America, according to spokesmen of the American concern. Germany dye manufacturers now have not only agreed to re-establish the original agreement, but are willing to increase materially the quota to America.

Textile manufacturers have ordered heavily in anticipation of this, and added deliveries probably will make the annual payments of the alliance nearly $3,000,000.

The suggestion is now made in allied circles that America might obtain a portion of the costs of maintaining the army of occupation by accepting German dyes through the reparations commission and receiving the cash payments which the alliance is now making to the commission.

Jury Completed In Sarah E. Knox Case For Murder

MONTEBELL, Va., April 26.—The jury was completed and taking of testimony begun today in the trial here of Miss Sarah E. Knox, Baltimore nurse, on a charge of murdering Mrs. Margaret L. Eastlake, at Colonial Beach last fall.

Several clashes between opposing counsel marked the presentation of the cases. References by Commonwealth Attorney Mayo to the children of Roger D. Eastlake, naval petty officer, and the dead woman, brought from Harry M. Smith, Jr., chief counsel for Miss Knox, the declaration that "if the prosecution dares place one of the Eastlake children on the stand, I will prove conclusively that Roger D. Eastlake did not leave his home on the morning of September 30 until after his wife was murdered." Mr. Mayo had said that "we will prove that, after committing the crime Miss Knox went to the children of the dead woman to comfort them."

In another clash between counsel, which developed when Superintendent Jarnett, of the Virginia State hospital at Staunton, one of the alienists summoned by the prosecution, remained seated after the court had ordered all witnesses from the room, it was developed that a plea of insanity on behalf of Miss Knox had at least been considered by the defense.

Mr. Smith objected to the presence of Dr. Jarnett in the court room, but his objection was overruled and the court informed him all defense alienists would be given the same privilege.

William C. Carrouthers, of Colonial Beach, one of the chief witnesses in the trial of Eastlake, who was indicted jointly with Miss Knox and acquitted at a separate trial, was the first witness called today. He testified that Miss Knox aroused him at 5:55 o'clock the morning of the murder and told him and his wife that Mrs. Eastlake had been "shot." He related in detail conversations he held that morning with the defendant and with Eastlake, and identified the stained hatchet and rain coat found in the yard of the Eastlake residence shortly after the murder.

Lieutenant John Duff, United States naval medical corps, stationed at the Dahlgren proving grounds, gave detailed testimony as to his examination of Mrs. Eastlake's body. Court recessed for the day after his testimony had been completed.

The jury completed this morning, includes ten farmers, a plumber and a merchant.

PIEDMONT LEAGUE WAS OFF TO GOOD START YESTERDAY

The Piedmont League was off to a good start yesterday with Pitcher Tom (Submarine) Green, of the Twins, twirling a no-hit, no run contest that went nine full innings without a single opponent reaching first base.

It establishes a record in this league and equals most any like record in any other league. Green is in the same category with Lady Astor, of whom an old black mammy said, "I 'clar to goodness, Miss Nancy, you've out-married yourself." Green out-pitched himself.

Apparently, from the box score, yesterday's contest—that is, in every department except that of getting runs. The locals obtained nine hits to their opponents' five, and the count is even in errors, bases on balls, etc.

Danville played the Twins again today in High Point and then came back home for four games, the first two with Raleigh, Friday and Saturday.

At the opening game here it is planned to go to the ball park in parade, forming at three o'clock in the vicinity of the Burton Hotel. This, by way of giving Abbott's charges a deserved send-off.

The initial games yesterday were marked by the closing of places of business in Winston, High Point and Raleigh. This procedure will not be followed here, but it is hoped that as large a crowd as possible will be out to see the first game on the local diamond this season.

Owner Peyton Hatcher announced last night that the directors of the league had turned him down on his proposition to lower admission rates throughout the circuit. The admission rate last year, and which will prevail this year, were 25, 50 and 75. Hatcher proposed to cut the admission to 25, 40, 50 and 60. It is the local owner's belief that admission fees to for high comedy and Shakespearean acting.

Old Actors Had Need For Swords

LONDON, April 26.—In olden days one of the earliest properties to be acquired by the budding actor was a sword. The London Chronicle in the Daily Telegraph. He had to provide his own "props" and wardrobe, and in view of the prevalent repertory, Shakespearean and classical drama, the sword was an important part of the mummer's outfit. With two or three swords, when sword and dagger, "props" slung over his shoulder, the poor stroller, as Edmund Kean did, would "pad the hoof" from place to place, presenting a figure akin to Dick Whittington with his stick and bundle, hoping some time to find his fortune in London.

In Elizabethan and Restoration times actors had to be skilful in the use of the sword both on and off the stage. For duels and brawls were frequent and, moreover, the players were now and again in trouble with the gallants when swords were whipped out on the slightest pretext. Jack Verbruggen's sword was often flashed from its scabbard on account of his beautiful wife, Susannah Mountfort that was, for said Jerry Jack, "Damm, though I don't care for a sword, I shall use it on anybody shall affront her."

Especially fine swordsmen were O'Brien, Keen, Garrick, Keen and, in later days, Irving, who, with Bancroft did a great fight in "The Dead Heart." Quin's sword dealt a death blow to a fellow actor, Edward May, in a petty professional dispute. When Barrack played Bayes in "The Rehearsal" he gave imitations of Hall, Delaney, Ryan, Bridgewater and Gifford. The last named was so angry at the liberty taken that the chief biographer of the actor, which Gifford poked him in the arm, causing Roscius to cease his mimicry.

Kean was expert with the sword, having studied the art under Angelo. An actor once said to the great tragedian relative to a comedy, "Where shall I hit you, Mr. Kean?" to which he replied, "Where you can, sir." The fight in "Richard III" and "Macbeth" he would prolong to the utmost limit, giving his Richmonds and Macduffs such a hot time that they both had hardly enough breath in their bodies to speak their concluding lines. Hazlitt cavilled at the excesses of Kean in his Richard fight, saying, "He now actually fights with his doubled fists, after his sword is taken from him, like some helpless infant."

When Phoebe Macduff, the latter felt his part so deeply that it was his practice to use most strong language at Macduff. Phelps, feeling a little uncomfortable at being assailed with oaths before which "the devil damn thee black, thou cream-faced fop!" paled its unbecoming fire, mentioned the matter to somebody, who advised Phelps to repay Macduff with oaths for oaths. So Macduff followed the advice, with the result that Macduff's tempered his feelings.

The practice of fierce and carte gave our old actors a department and style that, generally speaking, is sadly lacking today. Fencing, being a splendid athletic exercise, develops a good physique, which reacts beneficially on the actor's career. It braces his shoulders, it strengthens the back muscles so that the body is held taut and erect; it loosens the sockets of the shoulders, so that it gives an easy swing to the arms and aids in graceful gesture; the lunge gives a strong grip to the feet, helping the player to "read the stage."

Comparatively speaking, how few of our actors can "read the stage" in the grand manner required for high comedy and Shakespearean acting.

In this classical costume work one so often feels that the players' hands are itching for pockets, and they tend to cling to furniture in the style of musical chairs. In the matter of "walking the stage" more attention to this minor but important point of acting should be given by the various academic schools of training. How many moderns, I wonder, could compare with "fast-treading" Jack Hinton, whose glorious style and deportment are testified to in contemporary criticism. In costume plays we seldom see "distinction of a clouded cane," nor the "wearing of a sword" with an air and a grace.

This weakness in style and deportment betokens the fact that a good all-round repertory training is difficult to obtain in these days. The best of the old Bensonians and old stock company actors afford illuminating examples in the matter of good education and deportment. A passing tribute to you who also paid to the valuable training work done by the "Old Vic." In the old stock company days the actor who could not use a sword was not worth his salt.

From the days of Shakespearean combat have always been a popular and a good speech was a sure recipe for theatrical effect. The old actor much prized a long speech that he could "get off his chest." In the time of Queen Anne, George Powell, the distinguished actor, had a friend in front of him who was wearing with Powell's sparse opportunities for declamation that he at last cried out: "For God's sake, George, give me a speech and let me go home."

But the apotheosis of stage combat was reached in the heyday of the transpontine theaters. In the green days of the "Old Vic" when "Bravo" Hicks and Hughes used to rouse the gallery to frenzy, a broadsword fight was almost indispensable in a melodrama. At the theatre, the actor was a sorry show indeed if "Tippy," as a Jack Tar, with a sword in each hand, one in his teeth and an armory reserve in his belt, did not with ease put eight "practical swabs" out of action, and placidly play another "dram" of a "quid of bacca."

Every transpontine actor knew the technical terms of the broadsword fights, such as—round eights, singles, three, broken fives, prime, double primes and passes. A special set of these famous combats were always fought to a fortissimo accompaniment of music. A particular combination known as "The Gladiators" was so arranged that each blow was chopped in time with a drum. The burning of the theatres in 1809, the loss of the antagonists was, if possible, to get sparks flying out of the swords—then indeed they felt they had fired the bosoms of the "gods." It will be remembered that a high value was attached to these fights, and that a practical theatrical manager, Vincent Crummies,

In his youth Charles Matthews, the elder, had a passion for fencing—so much so that as an amateur he paid the manager of the Richmond theatre to play Richmond, allured as he was by the prospects of the "fight." The Richmond was an equally enthusiastic amateur. Matthews relates in his scanty autobiography: "I cared for nothing except the last scene in 'Richard III.' In that scene I was required to have my full swing of cart and tierce. I had no notion of paying with seven and a half guineas without indulging my passion. In vain did the tyrant try to die after the first blow. I would not allow him to give in. I drove him by main force from any position convenient for his last dying speech. The audience laughed; I heeded them not. The shouted: 'I was dead.' Had they hooted, I should have lunged on to my unconquerable of their interest. My accomplishment. Litchfield, I was resolved to show them frequently whispered 'Enough!' but I thought with Macbeth, 'Dammed be he who first cries 'Hold, enough!' I kept at it and I believe we fought almost literally a long hour by Shrewsbury clock. To add to the merriment, a matter-of-fact fellow in the gallery, who, in his innocence, took everything for reality, and who was completely wrapt up and lost by the very cunning of the scene, at last shouted out 'Why don't he shoot him!'

Gheen Twirls No-Hit Game For the Twins

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., April 26.—In the Piedmont League opening game here today between Greensboro and Winston-Salem, Tom Gheen, pitcher for the locals, held the visitors to no runs and no hits. Only twenty seven men faced him in nine innings and not one of them reached first. Not an error was recorded against either team.

Saddler, considered one of Greensboro's best twirlers, was hit hard, eleven safe bingles being registered off of his delivery which were good for a total of five runs. Probably the record breaking attendance, 4,500 persons witnessed the game. The box score:

Put Fish To Work; Yellow Fever Banished

LIMA, Peru, April 26.—The Pacific coast of South America is free from yellow fever for the first time in history and a little fish locally known as "life" has been the most efficient agent in the battle to rid Peru of the dread disease.

The fish, which will have to be scientifically identified in Washington, was found to be the most active destroyer of mosquito larvae. More than 700,000 of them have been distributed by ones, twos and threes in all the water containers in the houses in the districts of Lambayeque and Libertad. For an ordinary water container of 10 or 15 gallons, two or three fish were sufficient.

No food was provided so that the hungry fish would live on the organic matter in the water. Every eight or 10 days inspectors visited the houses to make sure the fish were still living and doing their work.

The final chapter of yellow fever campaign is being written by Henry Hanson, of the International Health Board, at the Rockefeller Foundation, which is spending large sums to help the government of Peru rid her territory of the dreaded pest. Seven hundred miles of the coastal section of Peru have been the battle-ground of the campaign and the estimated number of deaths is 1,500. For months Dr. Hanson and his associates have fought heroically to keep back the advancing lines of the enemy, for at times it was feared that the epidemic would spread south to Lima, the Peruvian capital, and to Guayaquil, Ecuador, but the campaign has resulted in a victory for the health workers.

There have been no cases since July, 1921, but the work is still going on as a matter of insurance. Dr. Hanson has about 15 men working in the coastal region in the south and will continue until about May. They do not intend to leave the faintest doubt when they have finished that there is any danger of yellow fever lurking in Peru. This is expected to be the last yellow fever campaign in the Pacific coast of South America.

WOULD BE REPRESENTED.
ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 26.—Decision to recommend to the general convention of the Episcopal church, to be held in Portland, Ore., in September, that the missionary district of Asheville be admitted as a diocese, was reached in the annual meeting of the Board of the Asheville Foundation, which is spending large sums to help the government of Peru rid her territory of the dreaded pest. Seven hundred miles of the coastal section of Peru have been the battle-ground of the campaign and the estimated number of deaths is 1,500. For months Dr. Hanson and his associates have fought heroically to keep back the advancing lines of the enemy, for at times it was feared that the epidemic would spread south to Lima, the Peruvian capital, and to Guayaquil, Ecuador, but the campaign has resulted in a victory for the health workers.

COMPROMISE BILL PAYING BONUS TO 5100 NEARER

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A compromise soldiers' compensation bill is said to be in sight. Senate finance committee predicts that an arrangement will be perfected within a few days which will be agreeable to the former service men, the president, the treasury officials and all others interested. The basic principle is the payment of cash to those entitled to less than $100.

The certificate plan carried in the House bill will be changed so as to make the certificates issued to ex-service men acceptable for all banking institutions as collateral for loans. The committee already has declared that the certificates proposed by the House may not be accepted by banks. His objections will be met by legislation.

The speaker has been told before the Senate finance committee that acceptance of the plan or the presentation of a counter proposition will be given to the finance committee tomorrow.

Republican members of the finance committee today heard statements by Harford MacNider, national commander of the legion; Robert G. Woodside, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and John Thomas Taylor, of the American Legion.

Raid Orphan Farm,

One of Six Outcast Children
At Jersey Home Says Custodian Taught Him to Steal.

NEW YORK, April 26.—An orphan farm was uncovered in Manassquan, N. J., yesterday after the arrest of the woman who ran it, on a charge of teaching one of her wards to steal. Six orphaned and outcast children were found in a seven-room house. They had been farmed out by the New Jersey State Board of Children's Guardians. For their keep the woman derived an income of approximately $20 a month for each child.

Mrs. Catherine Roche is the woman. She was arrested Monday after noon for having property alleged to have been stolen from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lanahan, also of Manassquan. The arrest was made in consequence of a talk between Mr. Lanahan and John McDermott, 33, oldest of the orphans in Mrs. Roche's establishment.

John told Mr. Lanahan he had stolen various articles from the Lanahan home and that Mrs. Roche was making him steal right along. John had frequently been in his home, because Mrs. Roche's daughter, Mary, 15, was employed there occasionally by Mrs. Lanahan. The Roche and Lanahan houses are close to each other.

Mrs. Roche was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Longstreet in Manassquan on Monday night. The principal witness against her was the boy John McDermott. He said Mrs. Roche taking him to the Lanahan home when she went to see her daughter would point out articles she wanted and tell him to take them. Several times, he said, she handed him the articles and told him to hide them outside and to bring them home later. The articles included dishes, preserves and other household things. Several of the articles were found in the Roche house.

John Lanahan testified he believed John McDermott to be honest because on several occasions when he had left money about the house John had found and returned it to him. Mrs. Roche's defense was a general denial of the charge and an attempt to fasten the entire guilt upon the boy. She said she was not aware of the presence of the stolen things in her house and that she undoubtedly stole them and returned them. Justice Longstreet nevertheless held her in $200 bail for the grand jury. She furnished the bail and was released.

Miss Elizabeth Wilcox, square in investigator for the New Jersey State Board of Children's Guardians, testified John had a good record. Miss Wilcox returned to Manassquan yesterday to look into conditions at the Roche place. After an inquiry she announced she was satisfied the place was a school for crime and unfit for any child.

She immediately relieved Mrs. Roche of the six children, whose ages range from six months to 15 years. They were taken to the headquarters of the state guardians at No. 15 Exchange Place, Jersey City, until new homes are found for them.

The names of the other five children at Mrs. Roche's home are withheld from publication because of their tender years.

WEDDING LICENSES ISSUED.

The clerk of the court has issued wedding licenses to the following: Emmett H. Lacy and Patricia M. Sutton, Winston-Salem. Howard B. Farley and Margaret Louise Turner, Danville. Stuart E. Hancock and Ossie Vivian, Danville.

Fine Four Staunton
Men in Still Case

HARRISONBURG, Va., April 26.—Dr. S. C. Neff, E. Guy Kyle, Harry Fauver and A. P. Higginbotham, all prominent business men of Staunton, this evening pleaded guilty to an indictment returned by the federal grand jury for violation of the national prohibition act.

Judge Henry C. McDowell, presiding at the opening session of the United States district court for the western district of Virginia, fined Dr. Neff, Higginbotham and Fauver $300 each and Kyle $150. An indictment was also returned against Thomas Tisdale, but, on recommendation of District Attorney Thomas Muncy, the case was not pressed. No jail sentences were imposed.

The indictment of the four Staunton citizens grew out of evidence given by Tisdale in circuit court in Staunton in February, when he was being tried for a violation of the national prohibition act. Tisdale testified that he was operating a still at his home near Staunton in conjunction with the four men who were indicted today.

The federal grand jury was in session from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., deliberating on the presentments brought out by Assistant District Attorney C. E. Gentry, and returned only six other indictments besides those against the Staunton men.

Elbert Brown, of Staunton, former postal employee, who was indicted at Charlottesville last month on a charge of robbing the mail of $716,000, pleaded guilty and was sentenced by Judge McDowell to serve two years in the State penitentiary.

B. L. Aleshire, postmaster at Gaines, Frederick county, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging that he appropriated $273.10 of the post-office money. He was fined the amount of the embezzlement and sentenced to serve one month in jail. Several civil cases are scheduled to be heard tomorrow, when it is expected that the term will close.

Break in Levee Will Prolong the Flood

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The flood in the lower Mississippi and Atchafalaya rivers will be intensified and prolonged by the break in the levee tonight about Ferriday, La., said a special river bulletin issued tonight.

The bureau declared that the crevasse at Ferriday was 100 yards wide at 5:30 tonight and said the river "will overflow the greater portions of Concordia, lower Kansas, and eastern and lower Catahoula parishes. Water will return to the Mississippi and Atchafalaya rivers through the Black, lower Ouachita and Red rivers and intensify and prolong the flood in the lower Mississippi and Atchafalaya.
